(1) The use of any unfair and illegal practices in the games is prohibited, including but not limited to the following:

Bots. "Bots" are software programs or other devices that communicate with the gaming software. They may use presets or artificial intelligence to make in-game decisions. The use of this type of software may result in a gaming account being closed, blocked and/or funds being withdrawn from the account.

Any type of software that gives an unfair, fraudulent, or unfair advantage.

Any type of software that shares information between participants or facilitates collusion or deception in any form.

Any type of software using a database of draws/"hands" or participant accounts that is shared between participants.

Any type of software that reduces or eliminates the need for a human to make decisions (example - software or other tools that make decisions automatically for a human);

6. Any type of software designed to automatically collect data from the <https://www.we-play.poker/>.

Any type of software designed to block mechanisms for detecting unfair and/or bad faith play.

Any other type of software which, in the opinion of the Promoter, gives an unfair advantage to the entrant using it.

11. Collusion. Collusion is conducted by participants where they behave as a team, with or without prior understanding between them, which results in actual or potential harm to the Promoter and other participants in the game. In order for collusion not to occur, a participant must cumulatively comply with the following rules:

a/ A participant must always play in his own interest.

b/ A participant must not play with another in order to gain an advantage over the other.

c/ A Participant must not soft play against friends or other known Participants (soft play is any type of game in which the Participant makes a decision that they would not make in a normal situation against an unknown opponent);

d/ The Participant must play with his/her normal playing style, regardless of whether the opposing player is known or unknown to him/her.

A financial interest is defined as an agreement or transaction between two participants to play a game in concert, including any form of game financing, exchange of participation entries, codes, bonuses, or sharing of winnings or sharing of bankroll.

h/ Participants must not encourage other participants to collude.

The rules in this section apply whether or not there is a declared agreement between participants and whether or not the action in question has resulted in harm to other participants.

Account Sharing. Participants are prohibited from sharing an Account with a third party, and violation of this prohibition will be tantamount to using multiple Accounts, resulting in their blocking. It is forbidden for a participant to gain an unauthorized advantage by sharing his Account to "disguise his playing style" or by "passing" games to other participants during a tournament. All Participants are prohibited from using other people's Accounts and Participants must also keep their Account details, passwords, or any other information necessary to access their Account confidential.

All Participants must play on their own behalf and in their own best interest; playing on behalf or for the account of a third party or "poker farm" is prohibited.

Unethical Conduct. Unethical conduct is defined as any action by a participant to gain an unfair advantage over other participants. Such actions, whether specifically prohibited by specific game rules or not, are strictly prohibited. Any attempt to gain an unfair advantage over other participants is also prohibited.
